

The Ultimate Isaac Hayes

A three disc set of music and video from R&B great Isaac Hayes will be released on November first. The album contains two discs of music and a DVD of 3 live videos and a music video of a song (Black Salty Balls) that Hayes performed, animated, for South Park.

The two discs of music include popular tracks: Theme from Shaft, Walk on By, and The Look of Love as well as a cover of Say a Little Prayer and many of Hayes' other songs. On the tracks themselves Hayes is in true form. His voice is steady and full of the pathos for which he is famous.

The DVD contains four tracks from Hayes, three performed live in the LA Coliseum in '72: Theme From Shaft, Rolling Down a Mountainside, and Soulsville. As well as the song from South Park. The three live tracks are wonderful examples of Hayes performances. Watch for his saxophone playing on Rolling Down a Mountainside.

All in all the CD and DVD are terrific examples of the fine music of Isaac Hayes. As he was introduced on the DVD: "One bad, bad brother."
